

John H. Capron, CPIM

John Capron is a Senior Project Manager with IBM's Integrated Supply Chain Organization, with a focus on Strategic Tools. His career spans 34 years in manufacturing, planning, development, and consulting, working in managerial, and non-managerial functions, with a specialization in ERP systems. He has developed his professional background working for the following companies: IBM (consulting & development), Keane (consulting), NYNEX (consulting), Origin (consulting), Philips Electronics (manufacturing, development, consulting), Kraft Foods (manufacturing), and Georgia-Pacific Corp. (manufacturing). He has leveraged his professional skills working with approximately 60 clients in the ERP consulting arena. Types of manufacturing models/industries he has had exposure to include: Build-to-Stock, Make-to-Order, Engineer-to-Order, Process Manufacturing, Remanufacturing, Repetitive Manufacturing, and Textile & Apparel. He has been a frequent APICS speaker, and is certified as a Practitioner (CPIM) with APICS.